W. S. BAILLY

FOR PRESIDENT,
ULYSSES S. GRANT.
State of New York.

It is well known that since the war, the Government has been disposing of various vessels in the navy and in some cases at a very small price. That there would be a serious loss by such an operation might have been anticipated, for they are not articles that are in demand except by Governments or their agents. But it is seriously charged that there have been frauds in the transaction, which reflect seriously on the department. The Herald says that they have been sold not only at much less than cost, but at prices far below the bids of responsible parties for the same property. These statements are corroborated by the Army and Navy Journal which cites the case of the Onondaga and the Carthage and says that these two of our iron-clads have been sold, not only for $190,000 less than the lowest of the bids made for them, but $390,000 less than the highest; that is, for half their market value. But this is not all the story. It appears that these iron-clads are to be sold to a South American Government which is now at war, and hence in violation of our own neutrality laws. The sale, accordingly, might involve our country in serious difficulties, the more especially as it was conducted under an act of Congress by the Government itself, and letters have already been published showing that the connection of the Government with the sale is one of which a foreign power might be able to complain. It would seem from the published statements, and we could scarcely find better authority, that there are matters connected with the navy department which need looking into, and which to satisfy the public must be thoroughly explained. We have no time, however, that the explanation will be given. The deed is done and some body has the money thus fraudulently obtained. The venerable Secretary of the Navy is not likely to trouble himself with matters of this kind and our people have become used to being robbed on a large scale and so do not mind it.

This is only another instance of the mistakes resulting from the lack of a competent Board of Survey like that which we have already recommended. We need a board of competent men whose term of office does not depend on that of the administration in power for the time being, but whose professional reputation is at stake on the character of the naval information they give to Congress. Instead of having a general "department," where no one man can ever be held responsible for blunders or neglect, we should have officers personally answerable, and who are at once divested of political considerations and professionally competent for their duties. With such a board we never should have had vessels selected for sale which were of use to our own country.

The Express Robbery.
A most daring and audaciously planned robbery was perpetrated on a baggage car attached to the Montreal express train, which left Albany for New York on the previous evening. The car contained an amount of valuable freight, in charge of a messenger of the Merchants' Union Express Company, J. F. Brown by name, and consigned to persons in this city. In the car there was also a safe containing $6,000 in National currency, $3,000 in currency or bonds, and about $3,000 in gold—all of which was put up in sealed packages. The messenger, it appears, gave himself up to sleep. The train, which consisted of two passenger cars, sleeping, and two or three freight and baggage cars, made its usual stoppage at Garrison, opposite West Point, and there the robbers set about the accomplishment of their plans. The car is composed of sliding-decks, which are pushed together and fastened at the bottom on the inside by bolts. The first intimation which the messenger had of the situation of affairs was the presence of two men, wearing masks who, revolver in hand, demanded the keys of the safe. Having no alternative, the messenger complied. This done a wooden block was placed in his mouth, and fastened behind his head with white tape. Handcuffs were placed on his wrists; his feet were tied with a cord, and his hands were then fastened to his feet. Not satisfied with their work, the robbers took the additional precaution of tying the victim to a stove which is used for heating the car. They then threw a buffalo-robe over the victim, who was soon insensible to everything but his sufferings. The robbers now made quick work with the contents of the safe, and were ready to escape when a favorable occasion presented itself. This occurred when the train was going at a slow rate in the vicinity of Sixtieth St. Before going, the robbers checked their victim, so as to make sure that he could make no alarm. The robbery was not discovered until the arrival of the train at the Thirtieth St. depot when, on entering the car, the safe door was found open and the messenger almost insensible. Prompt measures have been taken for the arrest of the robbers, and the directors of the company feel certain that they will be brought to justice.

The Georgia papers give credit to the military authorities throughout the State for the perfect fairness and impartiality of their conduct during the recent election. Beyond their efforts to preserve the peace and secure freedom of voting to citizens of every color, they took no part in affairs. The same report would be true of every other Southern State.

Several politicians are in Washington trying to secure from the President the pardon of Berlin, the Brooklyn whiskey distiller, who is now in the Albany penitentiary.

Special advisers assure us that there is a Republican majority in each branch of the Georgia Legislature, and that four of the seven Congressmen are Republicans.

A Tie vote on Impeachment.

There has been considerable discussion in certain quarters over the question as to whether Chief Justice Chase is entitled to a vote on the question of the guilt or innocence of the President in case there should be a tie among the Senators. As any one can see upon reflection, this is a very foolish discussion for from the very nature of the case there cannot be a tie vote. If five-thirds vote for conviction, the President stands acquitted. There can be no tie on a question which is determined by a two-thirds vote. The Senate has 51 members. Of these 30 are two-thirds. If 30 vote to convict, he is convicted. If 30 vote to acquit, he stands acquitted. The Chief Justice's vote cannot be added as a casting vote, because it is not a tie. But on the preliminary questions which are decided by a majority vote, we see no reason why in case of a tie the Chief Justice may not give the casting vote as he has done.

Don't Let Potatoes "Mix in the Bill."

"Do potatoes ever mix in the bill?" Potatoes are very apt to be mixed in the bill, and it requires constant care not to suffer but in this way, for mixed potatoes never bring so high a price in market as the pure ones. The potatoes which are to be sold to a South American Government which is now at war, and hence in violation of our own neutrality laws. The sale, accordingly, might involve our country in serious difficulties, the more especially as it was conducted under an act of Congress by the Government itself, and letters have already been published showing that the connection of the Government with the sale is one of which a foreign power might be able to complain. It would seem from the published statements, and we could scarcely find better authority, that there are matters connected with the navy department which need looking into, and which to satisfy the public must be thoroughly explained. We have no time, however, that the explanation will be given. The deed is done and some body has the money thus fraudulently obtained. The venerable Secretary of the Navy is not likely to trouble himself with matters of this kind and our people have become used to being robbed on a large scale and so do not mind it.

The Methodist Episcopal General Conference commenced in Chicago Friday, Bishop Morris presiding. In referring to this gathering of the Methodist Church, the Tribune of Chicago says:

It is the legislative body of the church, and the entire body of Methodist law, with some constitutional limitations, is subject to modification at its hands. To all trials of clergyman may be carried by appeal. It is the supreme judiciary, and its decision on law questions is final. The Editors of official publications, the agents in charge of the vast publishing interests of the denomination, the corresponding Secretaries of the Missionary and other societies of the church, all receive their election from the General Conference. All of these officers, except that of Bishop, which is for life, are held for a term of four years. The General Conference will represent a constituency of twelve hundred thousand actual communicants. No single denomination in the country yields so vast an influence over the masses of the American people. It is estimated that fully one-fifth of the entire population of the country are under Methodist teachings. It is but one hundred years since its advent to this continent, but the indefatigable zeal of its itinerant ministry, and the indomitable perseverance with which their work has been prosecuted, have made it the most numerous Protestant body on the continent. The ubiquitous "circuit riders," whose preaching followed close upon the sound of the hunters' rifle, have been the builders of this vast country.

A Yarns to the Boston Post.—It seems that they have a roster out in San Francisco that beats anything ever known down east. A correspondent writes:

"At Woodland's Gardens, about two miles from the city, is exhibited a leafless rose tree. It was decapitated a month since, but couched to live, and is now walking about apparently thriving and healthy, being fed by an attendant, with a spoon, through a hole in its throat."

The Boston Post has nine of these animals, one of which died from suffocation at the news from New Hampshire. The others all crowded over the returns from Connecticut though nobody but democratic boosters could tell what it was for. The San Francisco bird typifies the condition of the whole after the presidential election. We shall expect our neighbor to bring out a row of bearded chameleons at that time. They certainly will not be in a condition to crawl.

Crucifixion of a Gas Horse.—The late discovery of a cure for hooping cough, by inhaling the fumes of a gas horse, is found to be a real find. It has been tried by some Hartford (Conn.) physicians, and it is said with success. The children are taken to the gas works, where they breathe the most very pleasant air there produced, and there is something in the chemical combination that cures hooping cough. The people at the gas works state that during the last twelve months three hundred cases of hooping cough have been thus experimentally cured.

Horse Sense.—What is the reason you go so slow over the plank road driver? "The horses would not go faster if I were to whip them all the time," replied the driver. "Why so?" Because they know the plank road is only six miles long, and they want to spin it out as long as they can."

Strike.—The laborers employed in rebuilding the American Print Works, Fall River, who have been receiving seven shillings per day, have struck for eight shillings. It is estimated that upward of sixty thousand persons have attended the Sunday evening services in the Boston Theatre this season. The San Antonio Express is in favor of forming a new State of that position of Texas bordering on Mexico. In the darkest days of the Atlantic Telegraph enterprise, a friend of Cyrus Field's bought $10,000 of stock for a $10 bill. That was in 1858, receiving, on his latest report of ten dollars, $500 per annum in gold. The New York Evening Mail says that it is now at Huntington, L. I., a portrait of Abraham Lincoln done on an oak board with a hawker, which the artist prices at $1,000, a wonderful likeness, and worthy of a conspicuous place in the National Academy.

About Home.

No Man.—We were without our morning mail to day, as the cars are detained at a drawbridge this side of Boston. The train is not expected until nearly three o'clock.

Death of Mrs. Crocker.—Just as we were going to press, we learn that a telegraphic dispatch, received a few moments ago by Rev. Mr. Malcom, announces the sad intelligence of the death of Mrs. Crocker, widow of the late Rev. Dr. Crocker, of this city. She died this morning at the residence of James T. Furness Esq., Philadelphia. The funeral will occur at the Second Baptist Church, on Wednesday or Thursday next, of which further announcements will be made.

Strikes Death.—We are pained to learn that Capt. Wm. M. Rose of the Black Is and boat died suddenly on his arrival at the landing on his return from this city on Friday. He had been, so far as we can hear, in his usual health up to the last moment, when in his office the previous day, and seemed to promise as fair for long life as any man. No change was observed until he reached the landing when while standing with the tiller in his hand, he fell suddenly dead. He had a cousin who died in this city some time since in an equally unexpected manner who at the time was captain of the same boat. Captain Rose was a man much respected by those who knew him, was a native of New Shoreham, and his loss will be deeply regretted.

Pres. Seal.—Samuel N. Bishop, a native of Providence and for many years one of the most prominent and wealthy cotton-merchants of the South, died suddenly of paralysis at New York on Monday. He was at the house of Mrs. Gov. Barnstable.

Baptists.—Rev. C. E. Burrows administered the rite of baptism by immersion to fifteen persons yesterday, who were received as members of the First Baptist Church. A considerable revival interest prevails in this congregation at the present time, as is indicated by this fact. We are glad to know that this oldest Baptist Church in America is in the enjoyment of prosperity under the efficient labors of the present pastor.

Real Estate Alarums.—Attention is invited to the sale of the house and lot on Walnut street, this side of the railroad bridge, to-morrow. It is a good opportunity for some one who wants a cheap home.

Smith's Dictionary of the Bible.—We noticed this valuable work some time since and are glad to know that it is having an extensive sale throughout the religious world. No book recently published has received higher appreciation from scholars and the press than this. Mr. Walter B. Simpson has taken the agency for this city and will call on our citizens and give them an opportunity to subscribe. It will enter at once upon its work.

Kerosene Lamp Explosions.—On Saturday evening the family of Mr. Samuel Carr, residing on Spring Street, went out and left a large kerosene lamp on the table burning in the usual manner. On their return it was found that the lamp had exploded, breaking even the porcelain standard and base into shrapnel and the room had been on fire. Newspapers, books, a work-basket and other articles were wholly or partly destroyed by the fire which had expended its force on them and gone out. The ceiling and walls of the room were thoroughly blackened, so that the paper has to be taken off and the whole reticited.

A canary bird was found helpless on the bottom of his cage, and though originally yellow, partook of the sombre color of the other articles, but on being brought to the air recovered and is yet alive. The smoke from the kerosene penetrated through the cracks of the doors so that its effects were plainly visible in closets and other rooms, and the wonder is that the house was not totally destroyed. Had the family been in the room it is probable that some of them would have been seriously injured as the bird was evidently scattered in all directions.

Amusement Company.—The One Hundred and twenty-eighth Annual Meeting of this company was held on Tuesday evening last and the following officers elected for the ensuing year:

Committee.—John H. Fowle, President. Liaison.—John H. Fowle, President. Adj.—Thomas S. Burdick. Secretary.—John S. Coggeshall. Adm.—John H. Fowle, President. Paymaster.—J. Perry Clarke. Commissioner.—Amold L. Burdick. Surgeon.—John R. Caswell. Assistant Surgeon.—J. H. Taylor. Chaplain.—Rev. T. Thayer, D. D. Scoutmaster.—Randall Patten. Thomas S. Nelson; William S. Stearns; Jerry W. Heaton; Edward T. Bosworth.

The following appointments were made by the Council:

Dr. S. S. Mitchell.—George H. Vaughan. Ensign Surgeon.—Edmund D. Stearns. Corporal.—John H. Stacy. Tranquil Chamberlain.—Edwin H. Fowle. Samuel Burdick.

For Greenwich.—The Steamer Bay Queen will be seen by advertisement touches at East Greenwich, ending and coming, on Thursday of this week. This furnishes a favorable opportunity, not only for the Friends but for others to visit our neighbors across the Bay.

Baptist State Convention.

Editor Daily News.—The second convention of the "C" in Saturdays "News," on the report of the proceedings of the R. I. Baptist State Convention, are declined. "C" has been informed that "Rev. Mr. Malcom" voted against the resolution. This information is not correct. Persons who sat nearest the gentleman mentioned are positive that he did not vote. No person whatever voted against the resolution. The action is therefore here repeated that the vote was "unanimously affirmative." This matter would not be noticed were it not an impeachment of the truthfulness of your correspondent's report. In itself, the assumed fact is not of the slightest importance.

The second point offered by our friend of Saturday is, that "it is thought that the majority of the Convention did not vote at all." Clearly compels the belief that the writer of this sentence was not present when the resolution was passed. The vote was taken by a show of hands. When the "yes" were called the response rolled back from all parts of the house in one solid volume of sound and with great emphasis. The call for the "noes" was followed by a dead silence. The vote was one of singular unanimity and heartiness.

"C" informs us in the third place, that "it is believed" that "the whole matter" was sprung upon the Convention, and rushed through upon specious reasons. But who believes this? The principle involved is one universally accepted by the denomination, and could no more be "sprung upon the Convention" than sunlight upon day at noon. The facts, too, positively contradict the supposition. The resolution was read in a distinct tone in the open Convention, was recorded, and left to free discussion. The pastor of the Second Church in this city spoke twice on it occupying all the time he chose, and was the only one who opposed the principle involved. Other members also spoke, and spoke as long as they chose. The discussion continued nearly an hour, and surely by that time any spring designed to operate in the passage of the resolution must have been pretty thoroughly paralyzed. No one could truthfully say that any unfairness was practiced by the Convention toward any opponent of the resolution.

The dark insinuation of "a faction" "previously and privately drilled," deserves no notice. What rational meaning is to be given to this word "drilled"? What was the "faction"? This statement reminds one of the jury in which one disingenuous member declared he never saw in his life eleven such obstinate men. If there was any faction it was the Convention, and if it had been drilled it was by the independent study of the Scriptures.

In defense of the R. I. Bapt. State Convention it should be said that no vindictive, or otherwise hostile feeling is entertained toward any church affected by the resolution in question. The action was dictated by a stern conviction of duty, and with regret, on the part of the members, of the severance involved. If principles are worth anything they must be maintained at whatever sacrifice.

But that the Baptists of R. I. have in Convention, pronounced emphatically against the practice known as "open communion," is a fixed fact, and cannot be refuted. No further notice of the above strictures will be taken by Gregory Root.
